Umpire Attacked By Irate Spectators At Niles Baseball Game

Hayward Man Is Beaten Senseless By Mob Of Angry Men

Several Niles men have been cited to appear before the District Attorney tomorrow at the Niles Courthouse, for hearing on the alleged brutal beating of D. Dominici, umpire of last Sunday's game at the Niles grammar school grounds.

Dominici was beaten into unconsciousness Sunday afternoon amidst the shouts and crys of a mob of irate spectators who persued him from the playing field to the Costa home north of Niles.

It is said that Domicini fled to the Costa home and begged to be hidden from the crowd. Rushing into the house, a number of the mobsters beat the umpire into insensibility, dragged him from the house, and continued to strike at his limp form until stopped by Judge J. A. Silva, who rushed from his home nearby in time to save the luckless official from a fatal thrashing.

According to Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch, Domicini remained in an unconscious state for many hours, it first being feared that he would expire in a coma. He sustained a shattered nose, contusions about the face and a gashed scalp.

According to reports, Domicini incurred the wrath of the gang of Niles spectators, when he struck Henry Manuel, base umpire, after a brief dispute arising from a close decision at the home plate. Dominici ruled a Niles runner out on a forced play at the plate. Manuel, it is said, protested loudly, and was finally struck and knocked down by Dominici. Immediately a number of the mob surged out on the field and began jostling the umpire, who struck at several of the Niles men. Ray Peterson, manager of the Niles team stopped the fight, it is said, and hastened Dominici out of the school grounds. Dominici then began using abusive language, until some one is alleged to have cried "Lets get him". Lashed into a furry, a number of the mob started in persuit of the umpire, chasing him into the Costa home, where the near-fatal beating took place

According to Judge J. A. Silva, his attempts to stop the mobsters from striking the unconscious man were fruitless, until a riot call to the Sheriff's office was sent in. Judge Silva, in an attempt to deputize some of the gang to stop the beating, was grossly insulted. Nearly 100 people witnessed the scene.

Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch and Constable Ebright have secured the names of a number of the mobsters, and citations to appear tomorrow at the court house have been sent out. Whether or not any charges will be brought is not known.

None of the members of either baseball team entered into the fiasco, it is said. The mob being made up of Niles spectators only.

NILES FIREMEN TO MUSTER SPRING BALL CLUB

Rather surprised by their own ability, shown in a practice game with the Niles Merchants a short time ago, the Niles Firemen have concluded to have a baseball team. Realizing that mustering of the team and practice will take considerable time, the Firemen will not begin to play regular games until the spring, according to Clarence Crane. Practice will continue on through the winter.

Tony Alves, fire chief will manage the team, all the men feeling that he is the right man for the job. Joe Machado will captain the aggregation. He will also do a large part of the pitching.

Other firemen who have signed the roster are: Clarence Crane, Frank Silva, Lawence Avilla, E. Miller, Eddie Oliveria and Joe Perry, more men will be availabe later, Crane said.

LOCAL LANDMARKS AND HISTORY WILL ENGAGE CLUB WOMEN

"Page From Past" Program at Country Club November 7

Turning back the pages of California history, the Country Club of Washington township will present, "A Page From The Past," a program designed to bring back old memories, display old articles, and old-fashioned dress. The date is Tuesday, November 7.

Joseph R. Knowland, eminent in the state and a devotee of historical research, will be the principal speaker. He will discuss historical landmarks in California, and the efforts being made to preserve the essence of the past several hundred years. Many people in Washington township realize the value of local historical facts and evidences, and efforts have been made time and again to preserve vestiges of another day.

A feature of the afternoon will be a display of old fashioned articles. Each member is asked to bring at least one article, labeled with its history.

Many of the members intend to wear the garb of bygone days, and all who will, are asked to do likewise.

A musical program, in keeping with the spirit of the day will be presented, it being the plan of the music committee, to request that old members of the Country Club render old songs, and entertaining pieces, popular decades ago.

Tea, with an informal discussion of local history and landmarks will follow the program.

MULTITUDE ACCLAIM PET PARADE; DAY IS MADE ANNUAL EVENT

Praise Heaped Upon Prof. Bristow and Teachers For Success

Such praise and approval of the Pet Parade, staged last Friday by the Niles grammar school children, has poured in upon Principal E. Dixon Bristow that he, and those who assisted in the arrangement of the spectacle, have voted to make the Niles Pet Parade an annual event, according to a statement made by Bristoy Tuesday.

Much comment has been passed as to the value of the parade in the teaching of humane treatment of animals. Bristow conceived the idea as one to further the efforts of the Latham Foundation, which instructs children in the value of kindly treatment of dumb animals. From the behavior in the parade and the sleek appearance of the pets, Bristow and the foundation are rapidly achieving their objective.

Before multitudes of spectators, gathered from far and near, the parade, with a carnival touch, formed at the grammar school and from there paraded down Second street and up First street.

Led by lucky children mounted on ponies and horses, the line of marchers extended for almost two blocks, with splashes of color, banners and patient cats, dogs, roosters, doves, ducks, rabbits, white rats, parrots, canaries, toy monkeys, a burro, dolls and other objects of affection too numerous to mention. The national colors headed the parade flanked by rows of brown clad boy scouts. The Washington Union High School band was in the line of march, resplendent in white duck trousers and brilliant caps.

From the appearance of the pets, it is obvious that soap and brushes were plied lustily the night before. Small dogs, usually grimy, exhibited white coats and looked very bored. Some of the animals seemed to be aware of the fact that they were on display, and glanced haughtily about. Fears were expressed at first of dog fights, but aside from a brief altercation in front of the grammar school, the canines were very well behaved.

First prize was ayarded to Charles, Lorretta and Edna Lewis, for their NRA float consisting of a small wagon appropriately decorated in red, white and blue, in which sat a carefully groomed bulldog. The float was drawn by costumed children. Other prizes were awarded to: Betty Murphy, for her Blue Persian cat wheeled in a beautifully decorated carriage; Katherine Craine, for her patient and wise looking chicken; Camillo Ferrera, for her parrot, who kept his dizzy

An unusually interesting entertainment is slated for the ladies of Washington Township church organizations on November 8, when members of the Niles Congregational Guild will ask all interested church women to hear the Sheik Raphael Emmanuel, Chaldean Poet, and Graduate of Oxford, who will speak on "Bible Lands, Yesterday and Today." ERRORS IN NINTH BEAT NILES TEAM IN GAME SUNDAY

Unable to capitalize on 18 hits Sunday at the Niles grammar school grounds, the Niles Merchants lost a close contest to the Ramos Real Estates of Hayward. Breaks in the game occured just at the right moments to allow the Ramos Estates to collect 7 runs from 8 hits, to win the game 7 to 6.

The winning runs were put across in the ninth inning when the Niles boys made two errors. Until the last out, it was anybody's game.

Niles pitcher Arthur Duarte twirled stellar ball, with a record of allowing only 8 bingles. He gave 3 hits and two runs in the first inning, 1 hit and one run in the second, then settled down to hold the Ramos hitless until the 9th frame when he was touched for three hits and 4 runs.

Wes Raso led the Merchants in hitting for the day with a total of 4 hits for 5 tries. T. Duarte and Cull followed with 3 for 5 and 3 for 4 respectively. Cull collected a triple and a double. Duarte got a triple.

Sacrifice hits were made by; G. Mederios 2, Raso 1, Bellini 1, and Cahill 1.

Sunday's game, slated for the Niles grammar school diamond will be with Hamilton Meat team of Hayward. Scheduled to start at 2:00 p. m., it should furnish a number of thrills.

SLIDES IN CANYON DELAY TRAFFIC MONDAY

That effects may come a long time after the original cause, even in natural phenomena, was proved Monday when rocks loosened in Niles Canyon by a fire some months ago, crashed into the road with the arrival of the first rains.

Traffic was held up for a short time while mud slides and rocks were being cleared away. Motorists were warned to watch out for falling debris in the Canyon Narrows.

Of further interest in the same line are the evidences of overgrazing on the hill front east of the town. Years of continuous grazing has slowly killed the vegetation until the soil is exposed during the early fall. Heavy rains following wash out the unprotected soil, leaving deep rocky gullies which render the land useless for any further purpose.

CHAMBER HEARS TALKS ON VALUE OF SCHOOLS AND EDUCATION WEEK

Meet at W.U.H.S. Enjoyed By Thirty Niles Business Men

Following a suggestion mode some time ago by A. J. Petsche, the Niles Chamber of Commerce Monday met at the Washington Union High school, at Centerville as a gesture of good will and interest in that institution.

Some thirty strong, the Niles civic group was royally received by Principal A. J. Rathbone and officers of the high school student body, who voiced their pleasure in entertaining such a representative group of Washington township men.

Frank Dusterberry, student body president, after his word of greeting to the chamber, told the group of the derivation and signifigance of American Education week. He then introduced Arthur Ferrera, who, as a representative of the boys of the student body, told the assemblage of the value and meaning of school in the present era. Ferrera stressed the necessity of vocational training. He added that the schools are an indispensable haven for those who would flounder unguided in time of stress and flux.

Principal Rathbone, after reiterating Dusterberry' welcome, delivered an answer to an editorial in a popular magazine which had advocated a rebuilding of the educational system. Rahbone stated that the interim between the tearing down of the old and the building of the new would be disasterous. He held that the educational system as it now stands is a bulwark between seccrity and chaos, and that unscrupulous attacks on the public school system should not be tolerated by thinking Americans.

Miss Patricia Duffy, vice president of the student body, was next introduced to the group. She gave a short talk on character building and the value of the schools as character builders. Miss Duffy aptly stated that facilities of education must be kept open to all, adding that the schools had a steadying effect in this time of unceasing motion.

During the luncheon, P. Bellici, music instructor, conducted a picked chorus for the entertainment of the assemblage. Several vocal numbers were rendered, after which Bellici played several selections on the violin. He was accompanied at the piano by Miss Estelle Martenstein.

John Habenicht, student, next spoke to the chamber on the costs of maintaining the schools. He stated that education in the United States costs just one-fifteenth as much as crime. He emphasized the wise use of tax money in the educational system.

Before the conclusion of the meeting, F. V. Jones, president, expressed for the group appreciation of the splendid way in which the high school received them. He voiced staunch faith in the schools, and deplored the closing of many schools throughout the nation. He also spoke of the worthiness of the boy scout fund drive, and called upon Dr. G. S. Holman, drive head, to tell of purposes of the drive. Dr. Holman stated briefly the changes in the plan for this year, and said that he was confident that Washington township would respond generously.

F. V. Jones told the civic group that a representative of the highway commission will be on hand at next Monday's meet in Niles to tell the chamber of plans for road construction and maintenance in the southern part of Alameda county. Jones did not state who the speaker was to be.

Guests at Monday's meet were Justice Overacker, Manuel Oliveria, trustees, and Frank Dusterberry, Sr.

FEMININE BALL TEAM ORGANIZED; GAME SCHEDULED

Regular Equipment To Be Used; Uniforms Forthcoming

Baseball enthusiasm, rampant in Niles during the last few weeks has taken an unusual and interesting turn. There is to be a feminine team, composed of Niles women who aver that baseball yill be a fine means of whiling away spare hours.

According to Mrs. Leland Crane, who first thought up the plan, the team will be made up of women, who formerly had some baseball experience.

There will be no sissy stuff about the new aggregation, it is said. Regular equipment will be used, not soft balls, and wispy bats.

The Niles team, when organized will play a series of games with an Irvington team, now being mustered by Miss Irma Dutra. During the schedule, the two teams will keep close watch on the players with an eye to forming a composite team later on, to challenge any outfits that may come along. Even the teams of the winter league.

Practice and games will be played on the Niles grammar school grounds at times that do not conflict with the schedule of the men's teams.

Stumped at first by the problem of proper garb for the fair players, Mrs. Crane. Helen Alameda, and Adelaide Martin, agreed that jeans and men's shirts, plus tennis shoes would be a fitting costume. Hats and caps will be optional.

Niles women who have signified their enthusiasm, and who will see action are, Helen Alameda, Adelaide Martin, Florence Alves, Agnes Johnson, Gladys Crane, Lucille Alves, Mabel Duarte, Malvina Justi and Mary Franco.

INITIAL RAIN OF THE SEASON HURTS TOMATOES

Whistling in on the wings of a gusty south wind, a genuine rain soaked Washington township early this week, as farmers and ranchers watched either with jubilance or despair.

According to old timers in the region, this week's deluge is an indication of what they term an "old-fashioned winter," with a plenty of long rains and an epidemic of colds.

Tomato growers, whose late crops are still on the vines add their outcry to the wails of the grape growers whose crops will suffer from the downpour. Ranchers and dairymen who were a triffle late in getting their cut alfalfa out of the fields suffered from the rain.

On the other hand, cattlemen and vegetablemen hail the rain as a blessing. The former visualizing a heavy feed cover and the latter sturdy cauliflower.

Monday's rain amounted to the surprising figure of several hundreths over an inch. The rain was followed by an unusually cold night.

The Fable of Mr. Whipple's Dress Suit

SAT—

ONCE there was a Kid who lived in a tall-grass Settlement just two miles this side of the Jumping-Off Place. There was a Railway through the Town but no Fast Train ever stopped at Wimpusville unless it had a Hot Box. Sherman Whipple spent his early Youth in this benighted Burg where the Leader of the most exclusive Set worked at the Hardware and Implement Store, put Goose-Oil on his Curls and thought he was dressed up if he had on his White Muffler. The most popular Belle in the place had Coral Ear-Rings and would sing "In the Gloaming" at the slightest Provocation, unless requested not to do so.

When only three years old Sherman sized up his Environment and knew that he was in Dutch. After that he wasn't interested in anything except Time-Tables. It may be true that the Sharks on Sociology, who cannot understand why Lads leave the Villages and flock to the Bright Lights, never served a Term in one of these out-of-the-way Hamlets where the only regular Visitors, in the old Days, were English Sparrows and Drummers. Now a Picture Palace smiles where once the Feed Store was. The Sky is full of Antennae and the Honk of the Henry is heard at 2 a. m.

Not so, however, when the Earthly Career of Sherman Whipple was still in its Springtime. The Town of Wimpusville had a complicated Case of Mopes and Chidders. It had been stung by a Hook-Worm. It was Headquarters for the Not-so-Muches. It was a Dump.

It happened that when our Hero was about 8 years of Age he saw in a Story Paper, which his Ma read with great Regularity, a beautiful Wood-Cut depicting a Scene in High Life.

It was in a Conservatory with Palms all over the place. There was a Lady who was very Slender at the Waist and much less slender just Below, and she was in complete Low-Neck and wore Diamond Ear-Bobs and had two Cubic Feet of Hair and was, according to the Standards of Pre-Golf Days, a raving Beauty of the Statuesque Type. Her name was Alys. It was Alys Montague. Up to the time that our Producing Managers moved the Drama one Flight up from the Drawing Room, it was impossible to put on a Play without having at least one Montague in it.

The Correct Soup and Fish.

In the Picture it seemed that Alys was peeved over some Proposition that had been put up to her by the Gentleman in the Long Tail, who was none other than Geoffrey Durante. Whatever may have been the Private Morals of Geoffrey, he was certainly the Class so far as Looks and Get-Up were concerned. He had a wavy Mop and a spiral Moustache, and his Regalia was the Correct Soup and Fish including three Studs and Bows on his dancing Pumps. He was the Cat's Goatee, the Elephant's Eye-Lashes, the Eel's Elbows, the Panther's Pajamas, or any other Words to the same Effect so long as they don't mean anything.

Although it showed in the Picture that Alys was shrinking away from Geoffrey until only a clever illustrator could prevent her from doing a Flop and although the Reading Matter indicated that Geoffrey hissed "Have a Care!" when Alys hinted that she had learned of his Secret Marriage to Gladys Marston—even though the Circumstantial Evidence indicated that Geoffrey was a terrible Pup, his Wardrobe saved him. Evidently he was a Villain, but still a Gentleman.

Sherman Whipple was fascinated by the First Part Costume. It was his first Meeting with the Soup-and Habiliments. Never, in Real Life, had he seen any one all diked out in Thirteen and the Odd.

A Tall Trek From the Home-Town.

The Wood-Cut practically determined his whole Career. He made a secret Vow that some Day he would wear the whole Smear, including Silk Underwear and a Monogram on his Shirt-Sleeve. You might say that a Dress Suit was the Lode Star of his Existence. He steered his whole subsequent Course of Life toward a Conservatory, in which he might have a bantering Flirtation with some Heiress who carried a Fan and used good Perfumery. The Fact that the Distance from Wimpusville to Social Eminence seemed to be at least Five Million Miles did not dishearten little Sherman. He had learned that any One with plenty of Jack and a sunny Nature can bust into the Inner Circle of the Upper Ten.

When he packed his Wicker Suit Case and did a tall Trek from the Corn Fields, it was not suspected by the Oafs and Bumpkins of his native Township that he nursed this Ambition to write his Name in Letters of Fire on the Society Page of some Daily Paper.

We need not follow him through his early Struggles to tell of the weary Years during which, if he had lost one of his two Collar Buttons, he would have been practically Destitute.

Suffice to say that at last the Sun of Prosperity jammed its way through the Clouds, and Sherman found himself with an Apartment of his own and a sweet Balance at the Bank. The Dream of a Life-Time was to become a joyous Reality. He felt that the Time had arrived for him to break out of the Shell and Crow three times and let the World know that he had arrived.

So he went to a Real Tailor and said he wanted a Dress Suit with more Satin Lining than ever had been seen on any Vaudeville Stage. He wanted at least one Velvet Collar and he wanted a little Dewflicker to connect the Buttons in front and he wanted much Braid down the Trousers. The Tailor tried to tell Sherman that Evening Dress, or Full Dress, or Formal Dress, or whatever one may choose to designate the fantastic Garb, should be characterized by an unobtrusive Elegance and not Complicated by those Innovations which seem to be favored by Song-and-Dance Hicks and former Soda Clerks who have lately begun to impersonate European Aristocrats on the Screen.

No Quiet Raiment for Him.

All that Stuff about cutting out the Decorative Effects went for Sweeney. Mr. Whipple had waited nearly 30 years for arrival of The Day and now that he was about to back into a real Set of Nifties and carry his own Scenery, he didn't want any Vestments that were quiet and sedate. He wanted a Dress Suit that would sound like a Saxophone.

He had his wish. After the Hot Raiment was delivered he spent many an Hour in front of the Mirror and had a great many imaginary Chats with Members of the Opposite Sex who were not unknown to the Haute Monde, whatever that is.

He could hardly wait to flash the proud Apparel. His first Chance came when he was invited to attend a Smoker given by the Members of the Twelfth Ward Bowling Club. When he showed up at the Function he had on everything except Lip Rouge. There were 400 present and 339 of them had committed Social Errors by appearing in Sack Suits, although it is only fair to add that one of them wore a Sweater also. Mr. Whipple had to pull the Old One about going to a Party later in the Evening. Some one asked him if it was going to be a Fancy Dress Party and he said it wasn't, whereupon several of the Boys shook their Heads and couldn't seem to understand it.

He thought he was safe when he attended a Banquet given by the Alumni of his Alma Mater, which happened to be a Short-Hand College. The Ladies were present and the Toastmaster had the names of 20 tongue-tied Morons who were to be called upon to Speak. It was that Kind. Sherman did not feel so lonesome at this Affair, as all the Waiters had Spike-Tails, but the Toastmaster wore the only double-breasted Prince Albert Frock Coat to be found on Earth outside of the Embalming Profession.

Bad News for the Dress-Suit.

One Day, after the beautiful Raiment had been in the Camphor for a month, Mr. Whipple found something in a Magazine which almost froze his Blood. The Piece went on to say that the Man of Fashion who wished to be En Rapport with all the late Wrinkles could now be de Rigeur, a la Mode and absolutely Razmagash even if he wore a Dinner Coat at Gatherings attended by Ladies. It is said that the snowy Weskit, the expensive Pearls, the tall Dicer and the White Mittens which can seldom be buttoned, would continue to be Au Fait at the Metropolitan Opera House or at Weddings, but for Dinner Parties which were more or less En Famille the Dinner Jacket Combination was to the Mustard, because the Prince of Wales was doing it and what more was there to say?

It was just like sticking a Knife into the Heart of Sherman Whipple. He couldn't scoop up all of the French but he surmised that the Money which he had tied up in the Swell Harness was going to be a Total Loss. He had no Chance to be among those present at the Metropolitan Opera House, and the Weddings were out because the only Friends he had in the World had been married for years.

Little remains to be told. Sherman still has the Dress Suit but it binds across the Shoulders and the Pants are so tight in the Legs that they no longer conform to the Rules laid down in that sparkling Department headed "Styles for Men."

Often, as he sits by the Radiator, waiting for Spring to show up, Sherman wishes that he had saved his Coin and bought a Radio Set with a Loud Speaker.

INDIANS DISCOVER GOLD IN LABRADOR

Possibilities of Region Are Little Known.

Washington.—Rich gold ore was recently reported to have been brought out of Labrador by Indians.

It is one of many such reports that have been made through the centuries, but still the truth as to Labrador's possibilities as a source of precious metal is unknown, says a bulletin from the National Geographic society. It is for other resources that the country is best known, the bulletin points out.

"Labrador spreads like a rough triangle from Hudson strait to Blanc Sablon, on the Strait of Belle Isle, and from the Atlantic coast inland to the Height of Land," continues the bulletin. "With an area of at least 110,000 square miles, it is almost three times the size of New Foundland. Its boundaries embrace a fringe of coastal settlements, fur trading posts, and Grenfell and Moravian mission stations; romantic fjords and naked cliffs like those of Norway; rocky islands and narrow 'tickles' (channels); ancient mountains, valleys and falls; 30-mile lakes and rushing rivers swarming with trout and salmon; forests and barrens where fur-bearing animals roam. Eskimos and whites live along the coast, Indians in the interior.

Pulpwood and Lumber.

"Besides minerals, other wealth lurks in Newfoundland's mainland domain. There are pulpwood and lumber in the southern forests of black spruce and white spruce, birch, cedar, poplar, and balsam fir; and 'white gold' lies latent in cataracts like Muskrat falls. Grand falls, twice as high as Niagara, could be harnessed, it is estimated, to produce more than 1,000,000 horse power for a part of each year.

"But the sea, not the land, is Labrador's chief source of wealth today. So it has been since Cabot, letting down baskets into the sea, scooped them up full of codfish. Cod is still king on this coast, to the transient summer fisherman from Newfoundland and the 'liveyere,' who 'lives here' in Labrador all year round.

"Neither 'liveyere' nor Newfoundlander speaks of cod by that name. Salmon is salmon and trout is trout; but cod is always 'fish.'

"The 'liveyere,' like many Newfoundlanders, depends chiefly on the cod fishery for money to buy tea, flour, salt, pork and molasses for the winter. When the cod 'sets in shore,' he leaves his home and potato patch at the head of the inlet or fjord, and moves down to a shack on the outer coast for the summer. When the cod is running, he works 20 hours at a stretch.

"Back home after winter sets in, he hunts and traps for fur, shoots ducks, and goes on a 'cruise' (visit) to neighbors, traveling from 40 to 400 miles over snow and ice in a dog-drawn komatik, or sled.

Furs Source of Wealth.

"Sometimes a mission holds a fair, and dog teams gallop in from miles around with sledge-loads of families. The men hold a shooting match, with a barrel of flour as the prize. The girls fill supper baskets, and the young men bid for them—and the supper partner who goes with them.

"Rich furs—fox and ermine, mink and otter, beaver and bear and muskrat—rank next in importance to cod. The part white, part Eskimo trappers do little cod fishing, for the 'furring grounds' lie miles away from the coast, and the winter hunt, when pelts are prime, keeps the men away from home for weeks at a time.

"Rifles bang good-by as canoes pull out into midstream to begin the long trip up-river to the 'fur paths,' or hunting grounds. When a trapper chooses a certain area, he blazes trails, sets out perhaps 300 traps, and builds 'tilts' (log huts) at intervals of a day's walk apart. Thereafter, this land is his alone to hunt over, and no other trapper thinks of poaching on it.

"The trapper's day is long, work at the traps hard. Storms may overtake him, and 20-below-zero cold. Yet he stops only once or twice to prepare a mug of tea and to take a bite of bread. For supper, cooked on the tilt's tin stove, he stews a partridge with rice and salt pork; or perhaps some beaver or porcupine, whose meat is good eating. If he has time, he bakes 'rose bread' (yeast-raised), or if not, soggy bannock. Then he skins his pelts and stretches them to dry on the fur boards. Frequently he finds that mice have ruined the pelt by chewing away patches of hair.

"Furring over, he piles the pelts on a sled, and starts homeward over river ice and snow. At the end of his trail, perhaps 200 miles away, is home and family, a wood fire roaring in the stove, potatoes bubbling in the pot, and sleep—sleep—and more sleep."

Homing Pigeon Returns After 3 Years' Absence

Atlanta, Ga.—William Stoddard, prominent Atlanta dry cleaner, has reported the return of a homing pigeon that he had turned loose three years ago.

Stoddard sent some pigeons to Gainsville, Fla., 300 miles from Atlanta, recently and clocked them in their return flight. When they arrived there was one extra. Stoddard thought the pigeon was a stranger, but it had a Stoddard band on its leg.

The pigeon even went to the very nest it had left three years before. Stoddard believes the pigeon was caught and held in another loft. It was thin and bedraggled when it arrived here.

Asks Change for Dollars; Is Given $1,000 in Gold

Dunn, N. C.—It was only change for a dollar Miss Blanche Thornton wanted, but she got $1,000 in gold.

Miss Thornton, a store employee, went to the First Citizens' Bank and Trust company to make a deposit and get change. She handed the teller $1, and he returned a package of coins. When she opened the envelope she found nearly $1,000 in gold coins. The bank was glad to get it back when she returned it.

Drilling for "Dry Ice" Booms Fields in Texas

Midland, Texas.—A new type of drilling activity is booming in this section of Texas. The search now is for carbon dioxide gas wells which produce "dry ice."

Derricks are being erected in Mora, Harding, and Torrence counties. The northwestern part of the state already has several "dry ice" wells, which are proving to be better commercial assets than oil wells.

Hens Hail Beer

Hickory Flat, Miss.—Even hens are hailing the return of beer. "Uncle Tom" Gunter, Benton county farmer, has a chicken that laid an egg shaped like a beer keg.

Trap 50 Tons of Star Fish

Woods Hole, Mass.—Workers from the Massachusetts state department of fisheries in one day scooped up 50 tons of star fish from scallop beds in Buzzard's bay. Depredation of star fish has caused tremendous loss to the scallop industry.

ASK U. S. FLYERS TO ENTER $75,000 RACE

London-to-Melbourne Trip Planned for 1934.

Sydney. — Well-known American flyers will be invited to enter the £15,000 ($75,000 at par) air race from London to Melbourne in October, 1934, to commemorate the Melbourne centenary, according to plans of a special committee just formed in Melbourne to draw up details of the international air race.

Sir Macpherson Robertson, a wealthy Melbourne candy manufacturer, has donated the money for cash prizes in the race under these main conditions:

The race is open to entries from all nations, for any make and size of engines, and crews.

Simultaneous start in London in October, 1934.

A set course from London to Melbourne is now being worked out.

First plane to Melbourne to receive £10,000; the other £5,000 to be awarded for other qualifications to be announced shortly.

Distance About 11,400 Miles.

The approximate total distance is 11,400 miles, and it is expected that the route will cover these stretches: From London to Bagdad via Athens (2,500 miles) to Calcutta (3,000 miles); to Singapore (1,800 miles); to Darwin (2,000 miles); to Charleville, Queensland (1,300 miles); thence on the final stretch to Melbourne (800 miles).

The foregoing course is the one followed by the English aviator Jimmy Mollinson in his record-breaking flight from London to Australia in 1930. There are key landing grounds at Athens, Bagdad, Karachi, Calcutta, Alor Star, Singapore, Batavia, Samarang, Soerabaya, Darwin, and Charleville. October, which coincides with the start of the Melbourne centenary celebrations, is accepted by experts as the best time for favorable weather conditions through the tropics. Six of the pilots who have successfully flown the course started in October, including Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, Hill and Butler.

Kingsford-Smith to Enter.

Kingsford-Smith, conqueror of the Pacific from San Francisco to Sydney in the Southern Cross in June, 1928, has signified his intention of entering the race and expressed the hope of flying a Lockheed-Orion with a super-charged Wright-Cyclone 650 horse-power radial engine.

The British air ministry and the Australian department of defense are also co-operating with the centenary committee for the success of the venture, particularly in view of the fact that Britain anticipates a more thorough air survey of the route from England to Australia.

Invitations are to be sent to Colonel Lindbergh, Amelia Earhart, Maj. Jimmy Doolittle, James Wedell, Frank Hawks and other American flyers. It is expected that from England will be entered Sir Alan Cogham, Jimmy Mollison, Amy Johnson, Capt. Edgar Percival, Scott, McNulty, and Atcherly. Italy, France, Germany, and Russia are also expected to furnish flyers to compete in the air race.

Gull Delivers Fish to Hands of Angler

Taft, Ore.—John Marple, while fishing in Siletz bay, noticed two seagulls fighting over a 15-pound blueback salmon. Finally one of them conquered the other and flew away with its catch.

The fish was so heavy the bird could not carry it. As it flew low over Marple's head he reached up and plucked the salmon out of the seagull's beak. That's Marple's story.

HOME TOWN GETS AID FROM BEGGAR

Quebec Mendicant Lends His Money to Birthplace.

Quebec.—Beggars in this old city are sharply divided by caste, there being the "regulars" who occupy fixed pitches and who only accept money, street car tickets or tobacco, and the "occasionals," mostly women, who go from house to house, taking anything that is offered.

Begging is a regular racket at present, with most of those who work the various wards hailing from outside points, but while ragged clothes and a pitiful face are generally the main stock in trade, these do not necessarily mean that the beggars are penniless. For instance, Bebe Emond, who is known as Campette and who has his pitch near the Capitol theater on Quebec's main shopping thoroughfare, is quite well off, and in addition to a healthy bank account owns a block of houses in St. Sauveur, the French quarter, and has lent the municipality of Chicoutimi, which he claims as his birthplace, a considerable sum of money.

Campette is an exception, however, for the majority of the professionals have fallen upon much tougher times, for which they blame Philippe Trottier, an insignificant little fellow.

Trottier, who was a professional beggar up to a couple of months ago, is now in Quebec jail, scheduled to be hanged on August 18 for the murder of Marie Anne Webster. During his trial, which aroused widespread interest, he announced that his takings were between eight and twelve dollars a day.

This statement, published throughout the province, caused many people to refuse to give to beggars. They now turn whatever sums they can afford for charity over to organized associations.

MORE vitamin A

IN A TABLESPOONFUL THAN IN A QUART OF MILK

NOBODY questions the nourishing and health-building value of milk. Yet here is a remarkable fact: One tablespoonful of Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil contains more vitamin A than does a whole quart of milk.

"A" is the vitamin so vitally needed in the human system for tissue building and particularly to resist "colds" and other ills.

In addition, Scott's Emulsion is rich in vitamin D—especially valuable for building strong bones and sound teeth in growing children. Youngsters take it eagerly—it's so pleasant—and so easy for the stomach to digest. Try it! Use it regularly and note the results. All druggists—60c and $1.20.

SUCCESS FORESEEN FOR NIGHT SCHOOL DRAMATICS

Anxious to see what the talent of Washington township could produce in the way of a theatre production, many people last night attended the first play to be produced by the Washington Evening School Dramatics Class at the High school auditorium.

Three one act plays and a short skit were staged, all of them vividly interesting.

The first was a one act comedy, "Poor Old Jim," by Wm. C. DeMille. Maynard Morris played Jim and rendered an uproarious interpretation. Lillian and Tom Maloney made up the rest of the cast.

"How Laurel and Hardy Would Paper A Room," a pantomine by Margarete Crane and Isabelle Duarte was next on the program, Paderewski's Minuet by Yvonne Vieux following.

A play in one act by Parker, "A Minuet," with Barton Webb, Carl Bowman and Martha Chadbourne was staged next.

HUSKERS SMOTHER DONS UNDER 34-0 SNOWBANK FRIDAY

Contest Tomorrow With Livermore Will Be Hard Battle

Washington Union high school's Cornhuskers, a football team that has become progressively more powerful as the season advanced, last Friday took even a firmer hold on the league championship when it inexorably pressed back and defeated the Amador Dons of Pleasanton by a one-sided score of 34 to 0.

Particularly sweet was the triumph for the Centerville boys when the final gun sounded and the "can of turpentine" was handed back to the Pleasanton coach. Last year, after the Dons had trounced Washington by a wide margin, a Pleasanton player presented Coach Regli with the fiery liquid, advising him to use it as an application to stimulate his men. The identical can was returned Friday to the Dons, with instructions to use it as they see fit.

Starting with a hint of Centerville superiority, the first quarter ended with no score, after play that seesawed in Pleasanton territory for the most part. In the closing seconds of the initial period, the Huskies had the ball on the Pleasanton 2 yard line but were held for two downs. At the start of the second quarter, F. Mederios smashed over from the three yard marker, then added the extra point with a neat kick from placement, working back into dangerous territory in the same quarter the Huskers tallied a second time on a 10 yard pass from Frank Mederios to Ralph Brown. Brown snared the pass on the 10 yard line and fought his way to a score. The extra point went wide.

An orange flash in the first two minutes of the second halt, skirted the end and raced 40 yards to another score. It was Muniz, Husker half, whose twinkling feet gave the Huskies 12 of their 34 points.

The place kick was good.

With the second and third team in action, the Huskers did not score again until the closing minutes of the game, when the first string went back into action. Muniz folded over a punt on his own 40-yard line and whirled, straight-armed and sidestepped his way through the entire Don team to a touchdown. The place kick was good. Score: Washington 34; Dons, 0.

Pleasanton's power in line plays was smothered by the fast charging Husker forward wall. Dinsmor, Phippen, Sinclaire, Amaral, Mederios, Manuel, Hikedo, Durham and Ralph Brown are a few of the names that will be remembered ruefully by the Dons. Raso, Muniz, Rose, Mederios, Ramos, Muni and Ichisaki proved a crew of galloping Huskers that could not be stopped. Muni's tackling was beautiful.

Though badly beaten the Dons were by no means disgraced. They were outweighed by the Huskers. Average weight of Dons, 142; of Huskers, 174.

Some vital statistics:

Yds. from scrimmage	223	28
Passes attempted	10	2
Passes completed	4	0
Yards. gained from passes	44	0
First downs from scrim.	044	0
Lost by penalties	15	30

Tomorrow afternoon the Livermore Cowboys invade the Centerville gridiron for the deciding game for the championship of the Southern Alameda County Athletic league. Regli's Cornhuskers have drilled throughout the week, and are ready to put up the best game of the season.

The teams will be on the field at 3:00 p. m. Friday and everyone who fancy football will be on hand to see the game.

Starting lineup for last Friday's game against Pleasanton was:

L E., G. Mederios; L. T., Sinclaire; L. G., Dinsmor; C., Manuel; R. G., Hikedo; R. T., Phippen; R. E., Amaral; L. H. Muniz; R. H., Rose; Q., Raso; F., F. Mederios.

DRAMATICS SECTION PLAY "SARDINES" NOVEMBER 10

Slated for November 10, the second of a series of dramatic afternoons will be given in the Country Club house at 3 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. Barton Webb. Previous productions, particularly the one of a few weeks ago, have received ahe acclaim of the club women, and everyone is looking forward to the coming play with interest.

Carolyn Draper Fitzpatrick's "Sardines" will be the play staged November 10. The scene is laid in Herringport, Maine. The cast is as follows:

Lizzie Pike—Sharp of voice and tongue, Mrs. August May.

Alfreda—The Maid. Mrs. E. B. Hodges.

Miss Estelle Martenstein will play several piano solos, and a reading by Lewis Adams, of Newark, will be part of the program.

Tea will be served by the Hostess Committee, Mrs. E. T. Dusterberry, chairman.

DUCK SEASON UNDER WAY YESTERDAY AT 12 O'CLOCK

A half hour before noon yesterday, the San Francisco bay region and all of its adjoining marshes became an inferno of lead for the wily ducks, as hundreds of hunters blazed away on the initial day of duck season.

Many hunters have said that the hunting this year should be fairly good, but the diminishing number of the game birds in the country tells of future extinction unless stringent laws are passed and enforced for the preservation of native American species.

Enthusiastic hunters had hoped that Wednesday would dawn with a low light rain, so that the bewildered birds would find their "ceiling" lowered. The day dawned bright and clear.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY ACCLAIMED BY AUDIENCE

Produced last Friday night after a previous postponement, the Washington Union High School student body play, "The Goose Hangs High," attracted a multitude of play lovers who unanimously maintain that the production was one of the best ever staged by a high school cast.

Directed by Miss Audrey Godfrey, the play had a professional touch. The cast was extraordinarily well suited to the parts, particularly those of Hugh and Granny. The latter was splendid portrayal of a disapproving grandmother, who exists seriously in her own right, and who tersely vents the witticisms of old age.

Produced to the satisfaction of the players, the director and the audience, "The Goose Hangs High," has left its mark on the play roster of the Washington Union High school.

SCOUT FUND DRIVE UNDER WAY; GROUPS PLEDGING SUPPORT

District Rally Tomorrow Night At W.U.H.S. Gymnasium

Beginning Tuesday night at the "Kick Off" meeting at the Washington Union high school, the Boy Scout Fund Drive was launched with the enthusiasm of representatives from all civic, fraternal and religious groups in Washington township. Each organization represented voiced its support to the drive, and assumed a certain quota of the sum to be raised in this district.

Under the leadership of Dr. G. S. Holman, the drive is this year being put on in a different manner. Instead of a long canvass of individuals in the township, the Drive officials have asked that all organized bodies account for their membership. To clear up any ambiguity, E. Dixon Bristow stated that anyone belonging to more than one group will not be asked for a donation through each one.

According to Scout authorities an increase has been noted in the membership and interest of the scouts since the reorganization of the of Scouting in the county division in May 1932.

Scout activities, rallies, camporees and training courses have all contributed to a better understanding, a greater enthusiasm on the part of Scouts and the public for this program of character buiding and citizenship training. The whole hearted support of the communities in the County Division has made possible the successful carrying out of this endeavor, scout authorities say.

Tomorrow night, at the Washington Union high school, the Washington Township District Rally will be held. There will be no charge, and everyone is urged to come and see what the local troops have accomplished. Cards will be given out at the door, each visitor is supposed to credit a troop with his attendance. Points will be based on the number of cards turned in, 1000 points will give the winning place.

A program showing all sorts of scout activities will be put on, and numbers of diverting games will be played. The evening should be one of great interest to the community.

MEETING IS TO BE HELD AT AMADOR HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM

A number of women representing various Pleasanton clubs will deliver interesting speeches on the significence of NRA at an NRA meeting to be held at the Amador Valley high school this evening under the sponsorship of the Pleasantin Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Each woman will give a four minute speech. The one giving the most convincing speech will be awarded an autographed picture of President Roosevelt.

Congressman Albert E. Carter will be one of the judges of the contest and will also be one of the speakers of the evening.

Andrew Greve, chairman of the public relations committee, will act as chairman of the evening and will introduce the speakers. The Amador Valley high school band will play a few selections.

This will probably be the last NRA meeting to be held in Pleasanton. It was decided recently by President Roosevelt that small cities under 2500 would not be included under the NRA excepting chain stores and other business houses or factories employing more than five persons. Regardless of the statement mentioned above every citizen in the community should show their interest in the new recovery act and should make it a point to attend the meeting Thursday evening.

The women speakers already selected and the organization they will represent are as follows: Mrs. Paul Pelle, American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Cecil Gibson, Parent - Teachers' Association; Mrs. Harmon H. Nelson, Ladies' Aid Society; and Mrs. A. B. Casterson, Farm Home Department. The Catholic Daughters, Women's Improvement, Alisal Improvement club and the high school have not yet selected their speakers.

LIVERMORE COWBOYS DEFEAT AMADOR DONS IN FIRST LEAGUE GAME

The light Amador Dons suffered a defeat in the first game of the Southern Alameda County Football schedule when they were downed by the Livermore Cowboys in a game at Pleasanton last Friday afternoon, the score being 26 to 0.

Livermore received the kick-off and advanced the ball in a series of plays to the Don ten yard line when a fumble recovered by Dutra gave the Dons a chance to kick Livermore back into their own territory. However, the kick was short and almost blocked and Livermore was still in a position to score. They got to the ten yard line where the Dons held them for downs and again the Dons had an opportunity to set Livermore back. This kick was also a short one, but this time the Dons line had adjusted itself to Livermore's line of attack and were about to hold them. Livermore took to the air and a long pass completed which Dutra and a Livermore player had tied for possession of the ball. The rule in this case gave the ball to the passer which put Livermore on the Don three yard line where they bucked the ball over for the first touchdown. A forward pass completed the conversion giving the Cowboys 7 at the end of the first quarter and Amador 0.

The second quarter found both teams battling on even terms in mid field. A tackle spinner play got Warren, of Livermore, away for sixty yards, Dolstra being unable to hold Warren at the line of scrimmage though he had him stopped cold for a second. Failure on the part of a Freshman tackle to assist Dolstra in stopping this play allowed the second touchdown. The attempt to convert failed and the score at the end of the half was Livermore 13 and Amador 0.

The third quarter started like a Don comeback when the Dons marched sixty yards down the field and then lost the ball on a fumble after making thirteen yards through the line. Livermore kicked out, the Dons again started a drive that carried them deep into Livermore's territory at this time Dutra, triple threat back for the Dons, had to be removed from the game with a dislocated ankle. The quarter ended shortly after. Neither team scored in this quarter.

The final quarter found the Dons carrying the ball to the Livermore two yard line where an error in judgment by the quarter back in calling for a pass rather than a buck for the final two yards completely blew up the team. Livermore intercepting the pass made a third touchdown. A fourth touchdown by the Cowboys was made when they intercepted another Don forward pass. The Cowboys converted for the extra point.

The absence of Dutra and fumbling with the new backfield combination broke down the Don attack. The inexperience of many of the Freshmen and sophomore players resulted in two of the touchdowns, however, the progress of the team since the first of the season has been quite satisfactory with Coach Patterson.

Radcliff Howell, who was groomed to take Dutra's place at full in the Centerville game at Centerville this afternoon, has been in bed all week with the flu and will not be allowed to play in the game. Several players who have been suffering with the flu will not get into the game this afternoon. The team was badly huskers Friday.
crippled when they met the Corn-

The starting lineup used against Livermore was Sorensen and Pedri, ends; Madsen and H. Kamp, tackles; Dolstra and Perry, guards; Joe Peters, center; Cintrone, quarter; Abrott and Bernard, halves and Dutra, full.

Ghost Train To Be Given at Pleasanton

Onward into the night—into the mists—into the unknown—speeds the "Ghost Train." Swiftly and silently it moves along the iron rails which serve as its guides. No human hand controls its throttle. No breathing soul tends its fire box. Mystery envelopes its crew. No one is able to explain its passengers; because—all who gaze upon this vanishing train are struck by Death.

Nevertheless, it comes and goes, amid the roar of crashing thunder, the blast of angry winds and the downpour of torrential rains. While its coming was heralded with threats of danger Pleasanton theater-goers will have the opportunity of seeing "The Ghost Train," and witnessing all the effects of nature during a storm, without risking anything but their nerves.

"The Ghost Train" will be presented by the Pleasanton Masquers, under the auspices of the Women's Improvement club of Pleasanton, at the gymnasium of the Amador Valley high school on the night of November 13. The performers are men and women of this locality, who, under the direction of Harry L. Tripp, have been taking an active interest in amateur dramatics.

The Fable of Stationary Touring

By GEORGE ADE

©, Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

ONCE there was a well-to-do and well-mated couple, known as Mr. and Mrs. Sangwin, living in a nifty Residence Street and always planning to hie to the far-away Show-Places. These two did a lot of Summer Traveling early every Spring. They never had been to Europe or the White Mountains or Yellowstone Park except by listening to Burton Holmes and reading Folders, yet they had a Knowledge of Geography which was a great Help when they tackled a cross-eyed Puzzle.

Probably no one in the World knew more about Beauty Spots which they had failed to visit. If they were well informed regarding Switzerland and the Golden Gate and the Piney Woods, it was because they had dreamed about them with so much regulatory. They had been all over the Map without putting a Nick in the Letter of Credit.

Next to picking out a Pearl Necklace in a Show Window and then walking rapidly up the Street, this Chautauqua Method of visiting Africa by Proxy and going to the Mediterranean by reading the Ads in the Sunday Paper, is probably the least expensive of all Dissipations.

It just seemed as if the Dandelions and the Puss-Willows and the hopping Robins, all of them Harbingers of Spring and gay Advance Agents for glorious Summer, seemed to work on the Sangwins and produce a Form of emotional Squiffies.

You could bank on it that every Vernal Equinox, about the Time for changing from Heavy to Light, Mr. Sangwin would look out on a new Crop of tender Leaflets, basking in the Sunshine, and remark, with an Air of Finality, "No two Ways about it, I'm going to arrange my Affairs so we can go Somewhere this Summer."

Everything Sitting Pretty.

"Attaboy!" the Good Wife would exclaim. She was glad to know that at last they would cut out the Stalling and take a long, dandy Trip. She had everything doped for the Getaway. Clarice could be sent to visit her Aunt Loretta in Springfield. Robert was old enough to be placed at a Summer Camp for Boys, and she had the Address of one recommended by the Higginsens. The Gentleman who mowed the Lawns and manicured the Porches could be installed in the Room above the Garage as a Caretaker, and the oldest Clancy girl could come over and give the House a good Airing every few days.

Not to be outdone in the Matter of painful Preparations, the other Half of the Sketch would then explain how he had been organizing Things down at the Office until the Business was practically running itself. He said that He, Himself, that is to say, Mr. Sangwin, was the only One connected with the Shebang who was worth a Hoot when it came to dealing with an Emergency or facing an important Crisis, but he would have the Routine laid out so that even his Associates, with their ossified Turrets and Secondary Intelligence, could worry along or else consult him by Cable.

Everything seemed to be Sitting Pretty. Stimulated by the Coffee, and with the Ham and Eggs between them, they would build Castles in the Air which made the Equitable Building look like a Woodman's Hut. Before Mr. Sangwin left the House they would have their Tickets bought and be walking up the Gangway, bound for Europe, Romance and Adventure.

Many and many a crowded Hour did Mrs. Sangwin devote to the blissful Task of picking out the Liner on which they would plough across the Atlantic. Without ever seeing the Ocean, she came to know more about Vessels than any one on the Shipping Board ever knew. She wrote to every Company and got Bales of Printed Matter including diagrams, indicating all of the staterooms, Social Hall, Life Boats, Dining Saloon, Funnels, Drink Parlors, etc., etc. These had to be spread out on the Floor and she would devote happy Days to fussing over the Lay-Out and trying to decide where they would have their Steamer Chairs placed. She and Friend Husband had quite a Run-In over the Eating Arrangements. He wanted to take the Regular Meals and she wanted to go to the Ritz Carlton Restaurant because she had read in the Papers that Constance Bennet and the Marquis and Charley Schwab always had small Tables in the Cafe instead of patronizing the main Gorge.

A Couple of Obstacles.

When the Time came, they were eating Cold Snacks in their own Dining Room. You see, when they made all of their elaborate Plans for going over and turning the Eastern Hemisphere inside out, Mrs. Sangwin had overlooked the Fact that she was Corresponding Secretary of a Local Club which generated Culture and peddled the late News. It seemed that this Club was to have the Honor of entertaining the State Federation during the third week in June. The Sangwins had laid out an Itinerary and were booked for Venice June 18th. What could the poor Woman do? She had forgotten all about the impending World's Event in her own Home Town. She knew that the State Convention would be a Flop unless she was on hand to lend Grace and Dignity and Social Eclat to the Proceedings. So she up and told Hiram that she guessed Europe would have to wait because she didn't want to chase away and turn all the arrangements over to a Bunch of Female Nit-Wits who would get everything balled up.

Hiram heaved a couple of sizable Sighs and said it was all for the best because he felt it his Duty to stick around for the Annual tournament out at the Country Club. He had gone to the Finals in the Third Flight the Year before and then had been robbed of the Cup because he was buried in the Sand, got a Cuppy Lie, looked up on all of his Pitch Shots, suffered from Heart-Burn because the Steward should have had it analyzed, and an Angle Worm stopped his Putt. The Third Flight Championship had gone to old Mr. Dibbits, who had been a Slacker during the Civil War and had become venerable without achieving Respectability. Venice or no Venice, Mr. Sangwin wanted to be on Hand in July to trim the everlasting Daylights out of the doddering Wreck. It seemed that Mr. Dibbits had been suffering from Inflammatory Rheumatism all Winter and looked to be about Twenty minutes from a Rosewood Casket. Mr. Sangwin didn't want him to get well but he did want him to live until July and have Strength enough to get to the First Tee. He said it would be a Crime to traipse off to Europe on a mere Pleasure Jaunt when he had a Chance to keep working on his Approach, lengthen the Drive and cop the terrible $8 Piece of Silverware.

That was one Year. No longer ago that 1926 they departed from their usual Habit of taking a Mid-Summer Journey through Europe in April and May. That Year they were all set for a Motor Tour which was to include all the Best Hotels and the Scenic Splendors of the North American Continent. Mrs. Sangwin had the Blue Book practically memorized, and Mr. Sangwin had bought his Goggles and tested the Thermos Bottles and everything seemed ipskalorious when suddenly Mrs. S. remembered that if she rode too far in a Car she would get the darndest Case of Nervous Headache, so in 1926 the inveterate travelers compromised by attending a Street Carnival pulled off by the B. P. O. E.

For several Years before that War was the Alibi. They would tell all Callers that they were just crazy to take in the Sights on the Other Side, but they were waiting for Conditions to get back to Normalcy. Not once did they ever Confess, even to Themselves, that they were scared to Death when they saw a Storm at Sea in a News Reel, and they had no real Longing to be among Foreign Barbarians who spoke strange Languages, and they were secretly in Love with the Corned Beef Hash, the Griddle Cakes and the Double Mattresses of their own comfortable Shack.

Off on a Wild Excursion.

This Year they are at it again. They are just as het up as they ever were. For several Weeks they have been standing in awed silence in Westminster. They have supped at a famous Night Joint in Paris, where all of the Ladies were not what they might have been but, evidently, were what they seemed to be. They have looked down from dizzy Alpine Heights at the smiling Valleys. They have learned how to pronounce Salle a Manger! They have lolled back in Gondolas, looking at the Moon, and stood in the Colliseum, trying to visualize the spectacular Immensity of a Roman Holiday. They have visited Battle-Fields and purchased Souvenirs and Mrs. Sangwin has seen the big-eyed Manikins parade in their hoop-la Fineries.

"Gosh, but they have been going at some Clip since about April the first! What's more, they really and truly believe that they are going to sail on the Mastodonic just as soon as Clarice graduates from High School. If they were not so wrought up they would pause in their Pipe-Dreaming and recall that Mrs. S. has a lot of Fruit to put up this Summer and that the Chamber of Commerce has made Hiram Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements for the Celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Organization of the Fire Department, the dates being July 9th, 10th and 11th. So the big Vacation will go blooey.

However, the Sangwins will not be deprived of their usual Outing. Some Day next month she will fry two Chickens and stuff some Eggs and harpoon them with Tooth-Picks and wrap them in Tissue Paper, and the whole Tribe will motor up the River as far as the old Peters Mill, where Hiram will do some still fishing while Mother takes a good Nap with the Black Cushion under her Head and a Handkerchief over her Face.

Scholar Claims Music May Be Aid to Insane

Utica, N. Y.—The possible healing value to diseased minds afforded by music is being studied here by Miss Cecile Biondo of Utica, who for several months has been trying out at the Marcy State hospital her theory of the therapeutic value of music.

In assembling material for her university thesis titled, "The Influence of Music," Miss Biondo spent weeks of research in the Syracuse university medical school and the psychopathic ward of the Marcy hospital.

She hopes to awaken public and professional interest in what she believes to be one of the most important aids to the recovery of mental health.

Miss Biondo plans to compile a library of music selections for state hospitals for the insane.

She declared that, "speaking broadly, the therapeutic value of music lies in the instrumentation and interpretation which seems to have the best effect on the patient."

Frenchmen Lose Title as Champion Bread Eaters

Paris.—Once the world's champion bread-eaters, the French have lost that distinction, according to Edmond Chaix, president of the Touring Club de France.

Twenty years ago the average Frenchman consumed two pounds of bread daily. Today he only eats one pound, ten ounces, representing a drop of about 19 per cent.

In consequence, M. Chaix remarks, a Frenchman can no longer be defined, in the words of a Nineteenth century motorist, as "a decorative gentleman, ignorant of geography, who is always asking for more bread."

M. Chaix attributes the decrease in bread consumption to the fact that during the restricted diet imposed by the World war, bread suffered greatly in quality, and the French turned to other food.

FORESTRY WORK AID TO MILLION PEOPLE

Relief Burden of Many Cities Being Lightened.

Washington. — President Roosevelt's reforestation program already has lightened the relief load of many cities and has directly benefited more than a million persons, according to Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work. During the two months the civilian conservation corps has been in operation 250,000 men have been enrolled for forest work and 15,000 others have obtained supervisory positions, Mr. Fechner said.

Cash Allotments.

Reports reaching his office, he said, showed that the men enrolled in the civilian conservation corps and the Indian service had arranged for the payment of cash allotments to more than 300,000 families, aggregating close to a million persons in all. In many instances families receiving these allotments will be made entirely self-supporting.

"In thousands of other instances the arrival of the allowance money will so bolster family budgets that local relief organizations will be able to substantially reduce the monthly relief funds paid to these families," he said.

Summarizing the present status of the President's program for the placing of no less than 275,000 men in forest camps by the first of the month, Mr. Fechner said.

Thousands Enrolled.

"The War and Labor departments have virtually completed the major task of selecting, enrolling, processing and equipping the young men's conservation corps. Up to date 236,754 of the group have been enrolled and 101,000 of them have pitched their camps in the nation's half-billion acres of timbered lands. The Indian service has enrolled more than 7,000 of the 14,400 Indians who have been given work opportunities on Indian reservations, by the reforestation legislation. A total of 2,600 veterans have been enrolled. The enrollment of the veterans' quota of 25,000 for the whole country will be completed soon.

"This means that we will have more than 300,000 men at work in the forests by the end of the month. Not less than 275,000 men will be at work building trails and telephone lines, fighting the diseases which attack forests and in general working to improve the nation's forest resources before long."

Pauper Divorced; He Marries Again

Helena, Mont.—It may have been courage or it may have been gratitude to Lewis and Clark county for paying costs of his divorce suit, but Herman Scholer remarried immediately after obtaining his freedom.

Scholer took a pauper's oath that he could not pay the costs of his suit charging Selma Scholer with desertion. The court then granted him a decree, custody of two of the four children by the marriage, and ordered the county to pay costs of the suit.

Scholer walked from the courtroom, paid cash for a marriage license, and a short time later was a married man, with Katherine E. James as his bride.

Owns 1848 Jigsaw Puzzle

Indianapolis. — A jigsaw puzzle, much like those of the present day, and said to have been brought from Vienna, Austria, to Indianapolis in 1848 by Ludwig Nepbacher, is now possessed by Mrs. T. C. Steele, Brown county, widow of the Indiana artist.

Why did you buy this NEWSPAPER?

SUPPOSING that, beginning tomorrow, all the newspapers are discontinued. What a furore the public would make "News! News! We must have news or we will be no better off than the ancients." All right, suppose we give them news but cut out the advertisements.

Then you would discover that politics, the doings of society, notices of fires, accidents, deaths, scandals, sports, the activities of the police and criminals add little or nothing to the real comfort and happiness of this greatest age in the world's history.

Advertising is the NEWS of all the looms, of all the furnaces, of all the laboratories, of all the shops, of all the stores, of all the world, AND ALL WORKING FOR YOU.

Because of advertising, luxuries and necessities that once cost a king's ransom are yours at little prices. Advertising pits merchant against merchant, artisan against artisan, producer against producer, for your benefit, forcing out the best there is in everything and telling the world about it.

Read advertising. Keep abreast of today. Advertising furnishes you with facts and opportunities that otherwise you would never know.

THREE CARS COLLIDE

A number of people in Newark had a first hand lesson in traffic laws Sunday evening. It so happened that three automobiles met at the crossing at the Presbyterian church corner. One automobile, which should have stopped at the crossing, crossed the main highway. That forced the car going east to swerve to the left, and in doing so the driver ran into the third car which was approaching from the west. As a result two of the automobiles were taken to the garage for repairs.

Benefit Bridge Whist Saturday For Hospital

Departing from the idea of a garden party this fall to raise funds for the building and maintenance fund of the Children's Hospital of Alameda County, the Toyon branch will give a benefit bridge whist this Saturday night at the home if Mrs. J. C. Shinn. The affair is scheduled to start at 8:00 p. m.

In the past, the branch quota has been raised at a sale and garden party usually given on the Shinn estate, but the fear of inclement weather this year prompted Mrs. J. R. Whipple, branch president, to suggest the bridge-whist as an alternative.

It is hoped that a large number will attend and lend their support to the organization.

Beet Growers Hope For Dry Harvest Weather

With the harvest started just a short time ago, sugar beet growers in Washington township are anxious for dry weather until the crop has been sent to the mill. According to growers, rain in any quantity, greatly lessens the sugar content of the beets, and impairs their value.

A continued rainy season at this time will necessitate the closing down of the Holly Sugar Company mill at Alvarado, it is said, due to the lack of storage facilities there. In the event of continued rains beets from this district will be shipped to the mills near Tracy, where storage sheds are erected to keep the beets dry, until they are run into the graters.

Oil Spray Method Told In New U. C. Bulletin

The bulletin on the tank mixture method of using oil spray, published last year by the University of California College of Agriculture but which has been out of print for some time, now is available again. In making this announcement, Dean C. B. Hutchison of the College of Agriculture says the bulletin met a heavy demand and that it has been reprinted to care for this continuing need. It is known as Bulletin 527, The Tank Mixture Method of Using Oil Spray, and may be had free from the college at Berkeley or from any farm advisor.

Hallowe'en Pranksters Spend Tame Evening

Ghouls, goblins and banshees got in their nocturnal work Tuesday night, while the township slumbered peacefully. Eerie voices with a suspiciously juvenile sound, were to be heard, accompanied by the clanking and creaking of signs, benches and parked automobiles.

Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch and Constable Wallace Ebright kept a close watch to see that no vandalism was perpetrated.

Hallowe'en jokers evidently labored mightily to move the old high school bus parked in front of Rose's garage, and early risers were surprised to see that the post office had become Tocchini's restaurant.

As far as could be determined Wednesday morning, no irreparable damage was done, the worst being the removal of several heavy signs.

Why Doctors Favor a Liquid Laxative

A doctor will tell you that the careless choice of laxatives is a common cause of chronic constipation.

Any hospital offers evidence of the harm done by harsh laxatives that drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and even affect the liver and kidneys.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be controlled. It forms no habit; you needn't take a "double dose" a day or two later.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the average person's bowels regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time. Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is little "convenience" in any cathartic which is taken so frequently, you must carry it with you, wherever you go!

Its very taste tells you Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. All druggists, ready for use, in big bottles. Member N. R. A.
